

ABSTRACT

The interface between the applications of various audiological devices to various data administration systems should be improved. Therefore, a universal interface is inventively proposed that has a uniform interface for the applications and a plurality of interfaces for the various data administration systems. In addition to this, the corresponding conversion routines are provided. Moreover, a class framework can be provided in the interface, such that it achieves a consistent access to the universal interface.